

You can't have your planet and eat it!

Public lecture by Henrik Nordborg

More than 120 years after anthropogenic climate change was first postulated and 30 years after the idea was generally accepted, we are further away from solving the problem than ever before. It does not have to be this way! Henrik Nordborg will give a brutally honest and disrespectful look at the climate crisis and what we can do about it. There is still hope, but we are rapidly running out of time.

Where: ETH HG G 3 (ETH Hauptgebäude, Rämistrasse 101)

When: Wednesday 27 November 2019, 18:30 – 20:00

Admission free. Registration and further details:

<https://nordborg.eventbrite.com>

